COLOMBIA

Colombia is truly unique in one respect: it is very, very rich in life forms. In fact, it is considered among the world’s four richest countries in biological diversity. This means that there are probably more animal and plant species here than in any other country on the planet regardless of size.

FACTS

- Colombia does not have seasons; because it is near the equator, it has sunlight throughout the year.

- The name Colombia is derived from the name Christopher Columbus.

- Experts believe that 3000 out of the 14000 spices of butterflies are found in Colombia.

- Colombia produces 60% of the world’s most expensive Emeralds.

- Colombia is the home country for many famous people such as Shakira and the famous writer Gabriel Garcia Marquez.

- Colombia is the only country in South America that has access to both the Pacific and Caribbean ocean.

- The highest peak in Colombia is the Pico Cristobal Colon at 5797 meters.

- The official language is Spanish, but there is other 64 Native tongues still in use.
Intern Latin America is delighted to welcome you to Medellin, Colombia. This pre-arrival letter is intended to help you settle into your temporary new home! It will be complemented by a full orientation on arrival.

Best wishes,

David Lloyd and Johanna Molina.

WELCOME !!

Medellín

Known as the city of eternal spring, Medellín is a dynamic metropolis that has undergone a cultural and socio-economic transformation in recent years. This 340-year-old capital of Antioquia Department, located 1,538 meters above sea level and boasting a year round temperate climate that ranges from between 18 to 28 degrees Celsius (64 to 82 degrees Fahrenheit), is Colombia’s second city both economically and in terms of number of inhabitants.

The Medellín metropolitan area, which comprises 10 municipalities located in the Aburrá Valley, currently is home to roughly 3,800,000 inhabitants.

This urban conglomerate in northwestern Colombia (nestled amid the Andes’ Cordillera Central range), hosts world-class events such as the Flower Festival, the International Poetry Festival, the Medellin Book and Culture Festival, Colombiamoda and Colombiatex. We recommend you to have a look at this local guide designed by the local government. It is very complete.

>> Dress

In Medellin you can wear almost anything because the weather is so good. Jeans, trousers, polo shirts, collared long sleeve shirts and t-shirts are standard attire. For the ladies jeans, pants, dresses, casual tops and comfortable shoes are generally worn. Trainers/sneakers are quite common. You will not see a lot of people wearing shorts or walking in sandals/flip flops, unless it is a Sunday!. Due to the weather, people never use coats or jackets, just be sure to bring some jumpers or hoodies to keep you warm in the rainy days. To get in to clubs you generally must dress nicely (it depends on the club) but jeans, shirt and some nice though not too elegant shoes would be best.

>> Taxis & Transport

There are plenty of taxis in Medellin and they are cheap. During the morning it’s very easy to take a taxi, however from 5 to 7 PM it is difficult to get a cab on a good day and nearly impossible if it is raining. The minimum ride in a taxi costs $3 dollars plus $0.40 cents for every 79 meters. It is best to call for a taxi rather than just picking one at random on the street. Just dial from your phone (034)3111111 or (034)4444444. There are much cheaper ways of transportation like buses and metro. There are plenty of different buses which have different routes covering all Medellin metropolitan area. Buses are $0.80 cents and you pay directly to the driver. The fastest way is by Metro, Medellin has a fantastic metro that runs from one end of the city to the other (Crossing the city from north to south). They also have a cable car that goes up into the mountains. The metro costs $1 dollar each way and you buy the tickets in any station and it runs daily until 11PM. In general, moving around Medellin is cheap. And you won’t be going very long distances during your normal week activities. In order to get around safely and easily, you will have a card with your address on it.

>> ID

You are NOT required to carry your actual passport with you at all times while you are in Colombia. You MUST, however, carry some sort of identification at ALL TIMES. A copy of your passport is best but a driver license is acceptable as well.
>> Drinking Water

Tap water in Medellin is completely safe to drink.

>> Money Matters

Currency: Local currency is the Colombian peso (COP), available in bills in the following denominations: 1,000, 2,000, 5,000, 10,000, 20,000, and 50,000, with 50, 100, 200, 500 and 1000-pesos coins. The USD-COP conversion is approximately 1900COP for 1 USD. Credit cards are widely accepted, though not so, traveler’s checks. For more information about the exact exchange rate please visit:

http://www.xe.com/currencycharts/?from=USD&to=COP

How much money do you need?

An average taxi costs $5USD for a 20 minute ride. A regular meal during lunch time could be $5USD. A nice dinner in a fancy place could be $8 - $15USD. A beer costs $2USD in a liquor store and $4USD in a club. A pack of Marlboro is around $2USD. Cinema is more or less $7USD depending on the day. Generally a club ticket could go all the way up to 15 USD.

>> Housing

Your accommodation will be arranged as soon as your internship is confirmed. All of our accommodation is located in the neighborhood El Poblado. It is the best and safest neighborhood in town and has an excellent location. Near to shopping malls, night clubs, restaurants and very close to the business district. You´ll have the address as soon as you get to Colombia.

There are three different types of housing:

- Family Homestay: A room in a normal family house. You will have your own room but it´s possible that you might have to share the bathroom.
- Shared apartment: Sharing an apartment with other interns and Colombian students.
- Private apartment: You will have a place for your own. (This accommodation is not included in the price, if you want to have your own place you will have to pay some extra money for this).

- Feria de las flores: August. Among the events we have: desfile de silleteros, festival de la trova, desfile de autos antiguos and many others.
- Feria Exposición Nacional Equina: August.
- Desfile de Danzas, Mitos y Leyendas de Antioquia: December.
>> Location

Since Medellín is not a big city like would be London, NYC, etc, your accommodation is located 15 – 20 minutes from your workplace. There are even some companies very close from our accommodations and will take you 10 mins walking to get there. If you wish to study Spanish, our partner university is located in el Poblado within a walking distance from our accommodation. Our principal consideration is your security and so we place you in the safest residential neighbourhood.

>> Housemates

It is your responsibility to talk any problems over with house mates and to try and have a nice, harmonic cohabitation. If you have problems with internet connection, hot water, and stuff related you can contact us and we will speak to the owner of the place to make sure this situations will be solved ASAP.

>> Punctuality & Society

Poor punctuality is common throughout the entire country and should be expected in both social and even business occasions. Do not be surprised if your work colleagues are impunctual. Also, do not be surprised by different standards of political correctness. It is recommended to adjust your standards of what you might normally be offended by. Colombians are generally warm, lovely and friendly people but culturally can be quite open to jokes, which while innocent to them, can be interpreted as hurtful so do bear this in mind.

>> Security

While you will be living in a safe, local area pick-pockets and thieves are common in Buenos Aires and often venture into even the nicest areas of the city. Blend in, dress normally and do not act ostentatiously or draw unwanted attention to yourself.

Interns are recommended to keep their valuables and important documents in hotel safety deposit boxes. Follow common sense rules, and keep to well-referenced tourist areas recommended. Avoid walking down the street with fancy watches or jewelry, especially at night. Try not to text or talk by phone while walking in the streets. Do not carry your expensive camera hanged of your shoulders, if you want to take a picture just take out the camera of your backpack and then save it again. KEEP A LOW PROFILE and everything will be fine.

>> Arrival Induction & Welcome Pack

In case you arrive in Medellín after 11pm Colombia time your welcome pack and induction will be given to you in the morning the next day. You will be picked up by our driver at the airport as normal and let in to your accommodation by the other people who live there. They will be expecting your arrival. You will get so much more out of your time in Medellín if you make an effort and try to speak Spanish at all times. We thoroughly recommend taking Spanish classes especially before but also during your internship. Once you have basic Spanish, you will find your work colleagues far more willing to speak with you in the Spanish language. As with everything, be proactive and search for every opportunity to improve your Spanish!
